INTRODUCTION

The Jain Sangh of NJ, PA, & DEL was "founded" in 1980 when a small group of Jains held the first Puja in South Jersey. This initial action has culminated in our beautiful Temple in Pennsauken, NJ. The aim of our organization is to promote the practices and doctrines of Jainism among Jains in the area and to provide information and understanding to those interested in principles of Jainism.

Jainism is an ancient religion of India founded by "Jinas" or conquerors, also known as tirthankaras or founders of the faith, men of perfection who have mastered themselves. These Jinas are said to be 24 in number but only the last two are accepted by modern historians to have definitely existed, Parsvanatha (700 B.C.) and Mahavira (599 B.C.). Mahavira, a Himalayan Valley Prince is credited as being the founder of modern Jainism, but interestingly, he practiced the teachings of Parsvanatha who was an ascetic monk. Parsvanatha had molded his life after the 22 tirthankaras that preceded him.

Present day Jainism was formulated with scripture approximately 980 years after the death of Mahavira in 527 B.C. Jainism is a religion for all people and all beings. In that spirit, we have chosen to place Shree Samav Saran Mahamandir on the cover of this directory. The idea behind this temple is that it is a place where all living beings, regardless of the language they speak, can come and understand the teachings of God.

We are very proud to be the followers of such fine principles to guide our daily lives. There are ten million Jains in the world today, with over thirteen thousand Jains in North America.

President's Message

It is my distinct privilege, honor and pleasure to welcome all of you to this most rare and auspicious occasion. The Pratistha will help to build and mold a stronger united Jain community in the tri-state area, and will continue to spread Lord Mahavir's message "Live and Let Live."

The Temple is open to Jains of all denominations. On this beautiful day I plead that everyone forget the different denominations and start calling ourselves nothing but "Jain." I urge every Jain to make a habit of visiting the Temple at least once a week with their family members. "A family that prays together stays together." Remember, that through and with our children we can maintain our culture, customs and strong Jain society.

Some of the future projects that I would like to share with you are as follows:

1. JAIN PATHSALA: Let us begin by dedicating alternate Sundays for religious education. We request people with religious knowledge to please come forward and share the knowledge with younger generations.
2. YOGA AND MEDITATION CLASSES: To be held at the same time as the Pathsala so all parents can attend while the children are in class.
3. JAIN LIBRARY: Well equipped with books, video and audio cassettes which can be readily available in order to make learning easy. We need a reliable and responsible volunteer to be the librarian.
4. JAIN SCHOLARS: We must continue to invite Jain Scholars on a more regular basis to enlighten not only the children but adults as well. We must coordinate these efforts with Jain centers across the country.
5. CHARITABLE ACTIVITIES: We must establish a fund available for education and medical needs. In order for us to follow in the footsteps of Jain Mahavir Vidyalyaya, we must establish a committee to work out the details of this endeavor.
6. SUMMER CAMPS: We must organize a summer camp every year which will bring Jain families together. Camps should be geared more towards social and sports activities with a twist of religion.

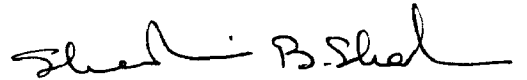

In order to fulfill the first three projects, we need to complete our second phase of construction which is the extension to the Temple. This needs to be done as soon as possible, and can be accomplished only if all of us donate GENEROUSLY.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all committee members, Temple members, advertisers and people at large for bringing this Pratistha Mahotsava to this stage of development successfully. I also sincerely thank my wife and children for their support and help throughout my past and present endeavors.

Last but not the least, I beseech all Jains to observe the following during every PARYUSHANA :

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1. No consumption of meat and alcohol. | 3. Visit the Temple daily. |
| 2. Spend at least one hour per day on religious activities. | 4. Attend Samvatsari Pratikraman. |
| | 5. Donate generously. |

SHASHIKANT B. SHAH

THE JAIN SANGH — A Historical Perspective by Bindi Shah

The Jain Sangh is an institution full of hopes and dreams for future generations, but ironically it began as one man's search for fellow Jains in his area's telephone directory. This search, conducted by Mahesh Shah in October 1980, resulted in one puja of about 165 Jains; this quest still continues in the tri-state area of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Delaware, but it has been adopted by each and every member of the Jain Sangh.

■ Background

As a result of the puja held in October 1980, many Jains got to know each other as fellow Jains. This interaction led to a second puja in April 1981 on Mahavir Swami's birthday at a local middle school. Sporadic Jain functions continued that year, until the idea of monthly bhavnas and biannual snatra pujas arose. The bhavnas consisted of approximately 10 - 15 regularly attending families who held the bhavnas at their homes. The pujas were held at a middle school, but soon moved to the Municipal Hall, and eventually were held at the Hindu Temple in Berlin, NJ. The audience grew as the years progressed, and presently Jain functions for the tri-state area are proudly held at the Jain Temple in Pennsauken.

■ Temple

As the number of Jains in the area increased and functions were held regularly without fail, the idea of a local Jain Temple lurked in the depths of many minds. Children began to wonder why Christians have churches, Jews have synagogues, but the Jains in the area do not have their own place of worship. Simultaneously, the adults of the area noticed the bhavnas and pujas growing while the desire for a greater spiritual achievement arose. Gurudev Shree Chitrabhanu also suggested that a Jain Temple be built in the area. As many great ideas begin, this Jain Temple began as informal conversation at local social gatherings. In 1987, the decision to buy a temple was made; much work lay ahead for the determined group. Donations were collected as the men searched for an appropriate site for the Temple. A church at a convenient location in Pennsauken, NJ was finally purchased in 1989. Due to the success of the Jain Sangh in its support and donations, the Jain Sangh looks towards expansion of the Temple. Authentic idols have been shipped from India and a beautiful alter has been built in time for the Prastitha in May 1990. Also, a dining hall is being planned as an addition to the building for the end of 1990.

■ Purpose

The Jain Sangh began as 10 families and has grown to about 300, yet from the beginning to the present, the objectives have not changed. The main purpose is to promote Jainism in the United States to not only practicing Jains, but also future generations of Jains. The regularly held functions and the recently established Temple have served as a vehicle for Jains of the tri-state area to mix socially and religiously. This entity which serves as a socioreligious forum for the local Jains has resulted in fellow Jains "helping one another out."

■ Problems & Solutions

The earliest problems were those of organization and coordination. Time, place, and money was often an issue. As the Jain Sangh grew these problems diminished, but new ones arose. The enthusiastic men who set out to purchase a site for the Jain Temple were evidently too emotional while searching. Due to their high hopes at the time, they were not fully in tune with reality regarding their financial limitations. They soon overcame this problem, but yet another sprouted. Converting the newly purchased church into a Jain Temple would be a great task, but unfortunately there was a relatively small number of people, and consequently, a limited amount of money. This last obstacle is being overcome as generous donations are offered by Jains both physically and financially.

■ Epilogue

The Jain Sangh can be described as a monumental spiritual achievement; the road leading there was one of struggles and triumph. The devoted Jains who made this vision a reality have enthusiastically succeeded in a great accomplishment which will carry on the tradition that they brought over from India. It is our hope that the Jain Sangh will not only benefit the local resident Jains, but rather promote Jainism for Jains across the continent.

LORD MAHAVIRA'S WORLD OF BROTHERHOOD

Today, we live in an age of change, adventure, opportunity, and expanding horizons. Just at this moment all over the world, we see changes which are giving new hope for peace and non-violence. And our efforts to go further in this direction, nevertheless, have to be continued, supplemented and increased.

Peaceful living is possible only when love and understanding permeate our lives, for they provide the solutions to tension and hostility that divides nations. And it is for the men of letters, the artists, and the thinkers to recapture the dignity of this New Age and to produce a new climate of ideas and a new vision of a world society.

The contribution of Jainism to mankind in its progress of evolution, has been, will be and is —

AHIMSA: Non-Violence;

ANEKANTAVADA: the Relativity of Thinking;

APARIGRAHA: Non-Acquisition.

Only with Ahimsa can peace be stabilized, progress be ensured, and the way cleared for development and prosperity.

Anekantavada is the basis of appreciating and understanding others' viewpoints which consequently leads to a life that respects and reveres every body and all living beings.

The philosophy of Aparigraha is one of working with, rather than against, nature; of thoughtful observation, rather than thoughtless action. This adds to harmony and becomes the base for ecological alternative.

We can tap the power of our senses, mind, heart and soul by nourishing our body and senses with vegetarian food, enlightening our mind with creative ideas, enriching our heart with love and reverence for life, and illuminating our soul with wisdom and self-realization.

When man overcomes the negative vibrations of antagonism and greed, he achieves good health, both physical and psychological.

When he overcomes his prejudices and narrow pre-conditionings, he achieves wisdom.

When he sets aside dogmas and fanaticism, he achieves understanding.

When he conquers his hostility and hate, he achieves love and amity.

In this way, Science has made the World a Neighborhood: The Teachings of Lord Mahavira will make it a World of Brotherhood.

THE AGAMAS SACRED SCRIPTURES OF THE JAINAS A RETROSPECT

S. A. BHUVANENDRA KUMAR
MISSISSAUGA, ONTARIO, CANADA

“Dhivya Dhvani” in the devine sound that expatiates to the world the sermons of the Arhats through Ganadharas, the chief disciples of the Tirthankaras. The sermon is translated into Sutra, the canonical scriptures, by the Ganadhara. This canonical literature is known as the “AGAMAS”.

The Agamas are written in Prakrit language, the ancient spoken language of northern India. Prakrit itself descended from the original spoken language, Ardhamagadhi.

The oral history of Jain Religion has it that each Tirthankara, the first being Lord Rishabh to the twenty-fourth, Lord Mahavir, after attaining Arhathood, expounded various Jain doctrines through their sermons. Such sermon, the Divya Dhvani, recorded for the first time in the Jaina history, refers to Lord Mahavir and his Ganadhara, Indrabhuti Gautama, some 2516 years ago.

The historical accounts of the Ganadharas, who came back to the time of Mahavir and his eleven Ganadharas, who came from Brahmin caste, and hailed from the neighbourhood of modern Patna in Bihar state, India. They were new converts to Jain Religion. These eleven men were: 1) Indrabhuti Gautama, 2) Arya Vyakta, 3) Sudharma, 4) Mandika, and 5) Maurya Putra in their early fifties; 6) Agnibhti, 7) Vayubhuti, 8) Akampita and 9) Achal Bharata in their forties, 10) Metarya in his thirties and 11) Prabhasa, the youngest at sixteen.

For many centuries, the Agamas were transmitted orally from Ganadhara to Ganadhara. Indrabhuti Gautama and Sudharma were said to have absorbed the recensions of the other Ganadharas as major interlocutors to whom Mahavir's answers were directed. At age 92, Indrabhuti Gautama passed away at Gunasila Park in Rajgrah, where all Ganadharas eventually laid down their bodies. Then Sudharma assumed the leadership and became the custodian of the Agamas till his death in Vir Samvat 12, the Jain calendar year, at the age of 100. It was the end of the first generation of the disciples of Lord Mahavir. Jambu, disciple of Sudharma, then became the custodian of the Agamas till his death in VS 64. The oral transmission of the Agamas continued for another 150 years.

Bhadrabahu, born in a Brahmin family of the Pratisthana Pura in VS year 94, was initiated to Jain Religion, at the age of 45 in VS year 139, by Acarya Yashobhadra. It was VS year 148 when a devastating famin occured and Bhadrabhu had become the head of the Jaina ascetic order. The famine lasted for 12 years. During this time, Bhadrabahu spent some of his days in Nepal practising yoga and Maha Pranayama meditation. A council of Jain monks, upon making the decision to collect and record the canon, Acharya Sthulabhadra was dispatched to Nepal to study the canonic works with Bhadrabahu, the only living person who knew the canon in its entirety. Later, Sthulabhadra called the first Jain Council at Pataliputra to preserve and consolidate the canonic works.

The Agamas consist of 60 texts under 3 groups: Pruva, Anga and Angabahya.

THE AGAMAS

The Purvas, which date back to the time of 23rd Tirthankara Parshwanath, have not been found, but their descriptions in the later literature attest to their existence. Dithivaya of the Angas, said to be a part of the Purvas, touch upon Jain astrology, astronomy, yoga, soul and the Jain cosmology.

Satkhandagama, in six parts, is the first Jain scripture committed to writing by Pushpadanta and Bhutabali. It became a source for the compilation of Kasayaprabhrata by Dharensena. These two texts later became the object of extensive study by ascetic scholars, Virasena, who produced a voluminous commentary Dhaval on Satkhandagama in A.D. 800, and Jinasena, who wrote Jayadhaval on Kasayaprabhrata in 820 A.D.

The Angas form the components of the body of the scripture and were originated with Lord Mahavir reflecting his most basic teachings. The first Ayaramga-sutta of the Angas is the law book for Jain monks while the third text, Thanamga is an encyclopedia of the Jain doctrinal issues. The fifth texts, Viyahapannatti, which means Proclamation of Explanations, covers catechism Mahavir's answers to Indrabhuti Gautama's questions, on Jain doctrines. The other texts, 6 to 9, of the Angas form narrative literature to set forth exemplary themes.

The Angabahyas, whose authors are known as Sthaviras, the elderly mendicants of the subsequent period, comprise of 34 texts arranged in 5 groups: Upgangs, Chedasutra, Mulasutra, Prakiranasutra, and Culikasutra. The Upganga refers to soul and its manifold aspects, Jain ontology, cosmology, movements of the sun and the moon, time cycles, dawn of civilization and about Lord Neminath, the 22nd Tirthankara. The Chedasutra collectively forms a Jain Text Book of Discipline in topics, again, with regards to monastic life. The Prakiransutra deal with ceremonial hymns and descriptions of rituals used in the preparation for a holy death. The Culikasutras are the appendices and they provide summary materials of the other canonical texts.

Under Pontif Skandila during A.D. 303-343, the Agamas were committed to writing before the Second Jain Council in Mathura. The Third Jain Council at Vallabhi in Gujrat, under Devardhigani, in VS year 980 or 993 (A.D. 453 or 466), completed the final redaction of the textant canon into written form in its entirety.

After the Jain Council, there appeared many great Jain ascetic scholars. Bhadrabahu, Kunda Kunda, Jinabhadra, Pujiyapada, Haribhadra, Hemachandra, Vattakera, Silanka, Samantabhadra, Umasvati, Akalanka and Somadeva were big notables.

The Agamas expresses various doctrines of Jain Religion; provide a universal treatment and acceptance. Its profound influence in search of Soul and its liberation; the humane community it purports to create with its teachings, and its views and values, behold the human spirit and strengths in its entirety in achieving the eternal goal of Living.

QUEEN TRISĀLĀ WITNESSES FOURTEEN GEAT DREAMS

With the foetus of Bhagavān Mahāvīra in her womb, the holy queen Trisālā witnesses the following fourteen auspicious objects in her dream: — (1) a lion, (2) an elephant, (3) a bull, (4) goddess Laksṁī, (5) a pair of garlands, (6) the Moon, (7) the Sun, (8) a flag, (9) a silver jug, (10) a lake with lotuses, (11) the milky ocean, (12) a divine aerial car, (13) a heap of jewels and (14) a smokeless fire. The queen narrated the dream to the king and asked him what it augured. The king as well as the dream-interpreters predicted that the queen would give birth to an illustrious son destined to be a Tīrthamkara in this very life. Queen Trisālā, of Vāsistha Gotra, was the sister of king Cetaka of Ksatriya caste who ruled over the democratic state of Vaisālī, the capital of Videha. King Siddhartha and queen Trisālā were both followers of Bhagavān Pārsvanātha's Sramana traditon. Queen Trisālā became the 'Universal Mother' because she gave birth to the twenty-fourth Tīrthamkara.

CANDAKAUSIKA — A DEADLY COBRA ENLIGHTENED BY MAHĀVĪRA

A monk died in a fit of anger and was born as a cobra. As eyes emitted venom, anything coming within the sphere of his vision succumbed to the deadly poison. Therefore no one used to cross the forest which was its habitat. Bhagavān Mahāvīra knew this by his divine knowledge and in order to enlighten the cobra by his universal love he entered the forest and stood motionless in meditation by the place where the cobra resided. The proud king-cobra rushed out of its hole, hissing and gazing at Bhagavān Mahāvīra. But he stood motionless and unperturbed. Blind with rage, the cobra bit him on the toe. But milk-like blood started flowing from the toe. Bhagavān Mahāvīra cast a gentle glance and said, "O Candakaúsika, be enlightened and attain peace of mind." The words had magic effect. Repenting sincerely for the past sins, he renounced violence.

ACCEPTING ALMS FROM CANDANABĀLĀ ON FULFILMENT OF THE VOWS

During the twelfth year after initiation Bhagavān Mahāvīra entered the city of Kauśāmbī after a long penance. He would accept alms (Bhiksā) only from the donor who fulfilled his ten untold conditions. He would accept an Udīd preparation from the corner of a winnowing basket, given by a person with one leg on the threshold and the other outside, who was a princess turned into a slave, who had a shaven head and whose legs were bound by chains. She must be a chaste woman, performing the penance of Atthama (three days' fasts), and should serve him after all mendicants had left and with tears in her eyes. Five months and twenty-five days elapsed, but no donor fulfilled these conditions. Candanabālā, a princess, sold as a slave, shackled and shaved by the jealous wife of a rich merchant, fulfilled all the conditions except weeping. Bhagavān Mahāvīra turned his face away at the last moment without accepting her humble alms. This made Candanabālā weep and the last condition being realized. Bhagavān Mahāvīra accepted the alms.

EARS PLUGGED WITH PEGS AND THEIR REMOVAL BY PINCERS

Once Bhagavān Mahāvīra was standing motionless, absorbed in deep meditation, on the outskirts of the village Chhammāni. A cowherd left his oxen near him and asked him to keep an eye on them. When he returned, he did not find the cattle and so he inquired about the missing cattle. When he received no reply to his persistent queries, he became furious and plugged hard wooden pegs in the ears of Bhagavān Mahāvīra. The saint bore all the pain patiently. From there, Bhagavān Mahāvīra went to Pāvā. In the course of his begging round, he entered the house of a rich merchant named Siddhārtha, who was then sitting in the company of an eminent physician named Kharaka. The physician immediately realised from the facial expression of Bhagavān Mahāvīra that he was suffering from some acute pain. He was persuaded with great difficulty to undergo the operation. He was made to sit in a basin filled with oil, given a massage and then the pegs were removed by means of pincers. The pain was so excruciating that even Bhagavan Mahavira cried out in agony.

THE JAIN UNIVERSE

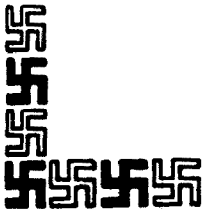

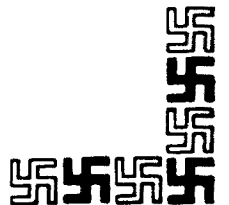

Jaina pratika: symbol of the Jaina faith, officially adopted during the 2,500th anniversary of Mahavira's nirvana (1975). The palm of the hand bears the word ahimsa; the swastika topped by three dots and the crescent represent the four destinies, the threefold path, and the abode of the liberated souls, respectively; the slogan below the figure of loka-akasa calls for the mutual assistance of all beings.

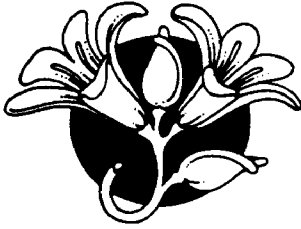

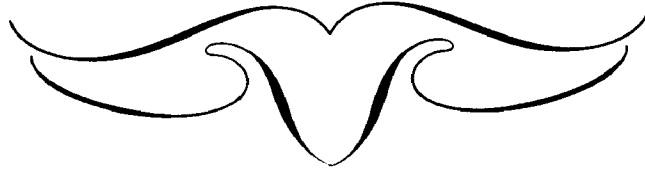

The shape of the universe resembles the man standing with the feet apart and the arms tucked on both hips.

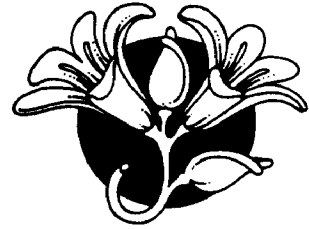

WE BELIEVE IN AHIMSA - NON-VIOLENCE

ધન ઉપાર્જનકરવું એ જીવનનું દ્યેય છે. આત્માનું કલ્યાણ કરવું એ ફરજ છે. આત્માના કલ્યાણ માટે ધર્મ અને ગુરુદેવોનો આશરો લેવો એ પરમ કર્તવ્ય છે. પોતાના કલ્યાણ માટે બીજાનું કલ્યાણ ઇચ્છો.

Religion is the highest of all blessings. It comprises Ahimsa (non-violence), Samyama (self-restraint), and Tapa (penance). Even the gods bow down to him whose mind is always centered in religion.

ચંદન કપાળને ઠંડુ કરશે.
વંદન હૃદયને ઠંડુ કરશે.
પ્રભુપિતા પણ આ રીતે પ્રસન્ન થાય છે.

આ સંસાર આપણને પોસાતો
હોય તો કશું સમજવાની આગળ
જરૂર નથી અને સંસાર આપણને કંઈ
હરતકર્તા થતો હોય તો આપણે
અધ્યાત્મ જાણવાની જરૂર છે ;
અધ્યાત્મમાં “સ્વરૂપ” ને
જાણવાની જરૂર છે. “હું કોણ છું”
એ જાણ્યું કે બધા પગલ સોલ્વ થઈ જાય.

સાચા ધર્મ તો બધા જ છે.
પણ જે ધર્મમાં ‘હું’ ઠાણું છું” અને ‘કરે છે ઠાણું’ ?
એની તપાસ કરે છે, એ છેલ્લા ધર્મના માર્ગે છે.
અને
“ઠાણું” એ જાણે એ છેલ્લો ધર્મ છે !

Bitter experience has taught me that all temples are not houses of God. They can be habitations of the devil. These places of worship have no value unless the keeper is a good man of God. Temples, mosques, churches are what man makes them to be.

Here in this life pleasures and amusements are not able to help or to save us. Sometimes a man first forsakes his pleasures and amusements, sometimes they forsake him.
