<sup>1</sup>phalam vātra M(176b4); phalañ cātra S.

Here I follow Hattori's view, while 'cātra' is also available. See Hattori [1968: n.1.60].

This sentence is parallel to PSV ad PS I 9: tasyobhayābhāsasya yat svasamvedanam tat phalam / (quoted in TAV 56.10-11. See Hattori [1968: n.1.61]). Hattori [1968: 236.20-21] inserts 'vijñānasya' after 'tasyobhayābhāsasya'. However, both Tibetan translations of PSV have no equivalent for 'vijñānasya' or 'jñānasya' in the sentence in question. (See Hattori [1968: 182-183]) So there seem to be no 'vijñānasya' or 'jñānasya' in PSV original.
